

Christl Lauterbach has been Managing Director at Future-Shape GmbH, Höhenkirchen-Siegertsbrunn, Germany since 2005. From 2003 to 2005 she was Project Manager for large-area smart textiles at Infineon's Corporate Research, Munich, Germany. From 1999 to 2003 she worked as a Senior Staff Engineer at Infineon Technologies AG, Munich, Germany, in the Emerging Technologies Group looking for new applications for microelectronics and developing wearable electronics. From 1994 to 1999 she was with Corporate Technology, Siemens AG, Munich, Germany, in the Microelectronics Group designing circuits for chip cards, flash memories and adiabatic circuits. From 1977 to 1994 she was working at Corporate Research and Technology, Siemens AG, Photonics Group on research and development of semiconductor technology and photonic devices. Christl Lauterbach holds an assistant degree for Communication Engineering and has more than 150 patents and patent pendings.