

Susan Wijnhoven, PhD
Scientist/ Risk assessor human toxicology
RIVM/ Center for Substances and Integrated Risk Assessment (SIR)

Relevant expertise (since June 2007):

- Working in the field of Human toxicology and Risk assessment
- Working in the Centre for Substances and Integrated Risk Assessment (SIR) of RIVM (National Institute of Health and the Environment, the Netherlands)
- Involved in different projects concerning nano in consumer products and food as well as in the Dutch Observatory on Nano
- Member of RIVM Nanotechnology Working Group
- Member of Expert panel on Nanotechnology in food and consumer products of Dutch Food and Consumer Products Safety Authority (VWA)
- Support participation in REACH-Competent Authority Sub Group (CASG) Nano
- Involved in different EU-FP7 projects (EU Observatory, FramingNano)
- Risk assessment of consumer exposure (e.g. cosmetics and other consumer products)
- Involved in generation of Opinions of Scientific Committee on Consumer Products