

Masters Recognition Scheme Launch - Royal Society, London

Kshitij Aditeya Singh (Tij)

18th January 2007

Presentation Summary

- ❑ Background
- ❑ Benefits and Functionality
- ❑ Participation
- ❑ Note of Gratitude
- ❑ IoN Team
- ❑ Demonstration

Background

- Education and Training Committee – Formed in early 2006

- Objective – Enhancing the quality of nanotechnology education and training

- Development of a template and website for information delivery
 - 1 year interdisciplinary Masters Programs
 - Minimum of 1/3 Taught content
 - 80% content Nanotechnology & Nanoscience

Benefits and Functionality

- ❑ Enables an online comparison of multi-disciplinary content of courses.
- ❑ Allows a prospective student to choose the correct course based on their skills and future aspirations.
- ❑ Offer course providers the opportunity to reach out to global talent.
- ❑ Assist employers in understanding the acquired competences of course graduates, in relation to their business needs.

UK Participation

- University of Sheffield
- University of Leeds
- Lancaster University
- Liverpool University
- Cranfield University
- Surrey University
- University of Wales Swansea

European Participation

- TU Delft
- University of Leiden
- KU Leuven
- Chalmers University of Technology
- Technische Universitat Dresden
- University of Padova
- University Ca' Foscari of Venezia
- University of Verona

Note of Gratitude

- Dr. Steffi Friedrichs – NIA
- Dr. Richard Forbes – Surrey University
- Dr. Mark Geoghegan – Sheffield University
- Dr. Robert Kelsall – Leeds University
- Dr. Denis Koltsov – Lancaster University
- Dr. David Carey – Surrey University
- Dr. Steve Dunn – Cranfield University
- Dr. Stuart Wilkinson – Oxford University
- Dr. Jim Burnell-Gray – Northumbria University
- Dr. Psantu Datta – Northumbria University
- Ami Holder – UCL
- Professor Ian Boyd – UCL

Note of Gratitude

- Professor Derek Chetwynd – Warwick University
- Dr. Graham Sparey Taylor – Cardiff University
- Lakis Kounadies – Queen Mary University of London
- Professor Dan Nicolau – University of Liverpool
- Dr. David Bakewell – University of Liverpool
- Professor Steve Wilks – University of Wales Swansea
- Professor Paul Rees – University of Wales Swansea
- Del Stark – ENTA
- Dr. Morris Roseman – NIA and Visteon

IoN Team

- Stephen Mckean – Website and Database Design
- Ottilia Saxl – Management
- Andrew Stewart – IT support
- Robina Fisher – Finance